WHAT TEDDY THINKS.
I'm twice as great as Washington,
I'm twice as great as Grant;
Because third terms they didn't get
They needn't think I can't.

I'm twice as great as Jefferson
And Madison combined;
I'm twice as great as all the lot Of Presidents, I find!

I'm greater than my country,
And its customs and its laws,
It's poor old Constitution,
And its precedential laws.

I'm twice as great as any man
Above or beneath the sod;
In fact, I'm half inclined to think I'm most as great as God!

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT

John William Plummer Almost Instantly Killed By a Falling Wall

Last evening about 5 o'clock a fatal accident occurred at the site of the Home Warehouse Co.'s ground at the corner of Lexington street and Forest avenue, where John Bonidin has the contract razing the Mrs. John Hall residence, preparatory to the building of the immense tobacco warehouse.

The unfortunate victim was John W. Plummer, who with other workmen was engaged in taking down the walls of the brick structure. The job had been completed with the exception of a piece about twenty feet long and eight feet high, which was being underrived that it might topple and fall. At the time Plummer was standing some little distance out from the wall and about two feet inside the outer edge. An eye witness who noticed the swaying of the wall gave a warning cry of impending danger, and had Plummer heeded it he could, by taking several steps, have saved his life.

However, he seemed paralyzed with fear and as the wall came down he raised his arm as if to ward off his fate and from being caught under the debris.

Willing hands soon recovered the body from under a mass of brick and mortar, but life was extinct. His neck was broken, skull fractured at the right temple and body bruised.

He was born in Indiana and was 48 years old.

He leaves a son 7 years old, besides other relatives.

He was a quiet, unobtrusive man and well liked.

Coroner Charles Slack held an inquest and the verdict was accidental death. The remains were conveyed to the home of his step-mother and half brother, John W. Frakes, in Casto street.

The body will be taken to Foxport, Fleming county, and the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

In the Market For a WHEAT DRILL

Then Our "New Peoria" Is What You Want

It has perfect working discs, fitted with dust proof chilled bearings, single draw bars that will not gather trash, staggered spoke wheels with 7-inch hub and 3-inch tires, continuous rear bar with truss rod to support seat and keep drill from sagging, direct pressure in rear of disc; a feature we claim will make this drill work perfectly in any land suitable for sowing grain and where other drills cannot be operated. A seat in center of drill convenient to lever is also furnished. Drop in and let us show you what this drill can do, and furnish you with the names of a score of satisfied users. One feature of our drill that puts it in a class by itself and makes it superior to all other drills on the market is the "Peoria Disc Shoe." You won't find the disc shoe on any other press drill on earth, the Peoria people have that feature cinched and they are going to hang on to it. If you want to know why we can grow more wheat to the acre after this drill than any other with the same amount of grain sown, come in and let us explain to you the "New Peoria Disc Shoe Drill."

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

FOR CONGRESS,
HON. HARRY BAILEY.

We had Democratic prosperity under Cleveland, and revenue tariff and charity soup-houses.

The Ananias Club's membership is composed of men who remember things T. R. wishes forgotten.

Progressive prejudices will not prevail against a sane and truly progressive constitutional government.

To make the people poorer, to reduce their buying power, may and probably will reduce the cost of living, as the Democracy contends. But what matters if a thing be ever so cheap, if a man cannot earn the money with which to buy it.

Just after his nomination Wilson was so "cock-sure" of election that he announced that he would sit in his office and let the Presidency fall into his lap; but now he has come to the conclusion that he must "hustle" for it.

A BIG TARIFF POINT.

For fifteen years a Republican Protective Tariff, has been in force. In this time exports of American manufactures have grown from $228,000,000 to over $1,000,000,000, and the increase is going on rapidly at this time. July, the first month of the new fiscal year, showed a heavy gain in this respect, with a total of $96,750,000, against $76,000,000 in the corresponding month last year. For seven months beginning January 1st, last this country has imported manufactured articles valued at $637,000,000 against $559,000,000 in the first seven months of 1911. Speaking of progressiveness, here is something solid to talk about, and the figures are those of established facts. Exports of our manufactures have increased more than fourfold under the Dingley law and the Payne law.

It is proposed by the Democratic party to demolish Protection, the basis on which these results have been achieved. When the Dingley law was passed Democratic leaders declared that it would destroy our foreign trade. They were completely mistaken. Our trade abroad has greatly expanded, and most of all in manufactured products. Many articles made in America are now preferred by foreign consumers. Our manufacturers, artisans and inventors have moved upon and captured many markets since Republican Protection turned the tide this way by encouraging American enterprise to do its best under Tariff safeguards. American wages have been maintained and reasonable American profits protected. The war now undertaken against a Protective Tariff ignores figures that are absolutely conclusive.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

If the skilled mechanic, while his employment is assured him under a Protection Tariff, receives $20 or $25 a week, he can still pay $20 or $25 for an occasional suit of clothes, support his family and save a few dollars against sickness or death. If he worked under the competitive exactions of Free-Trade he might get $10 or $12 a week, and be unable to buy clothes at $10 or $12, for it would take every penny he earned to keep a home over his head.

Manufacturers of foreign countries want the American market. The pauper wages of Europe would permit them to undersell American products, once the Tariff duties were lowered or removed, as Wilson and other Free-Traders at home and abroad desire, but it would be at the sacrifice of the wages of millions of laboring people and billions of the invested funds of American manufacturers. The gain by the change would be solely with foreign producers; the loss entirely with the American people.

WHERE DID THE SAVING APPEAR.

A reduction in the Tariff might give Governor Wilson the cheap foreign socks for which his soul craves, and yet low duties have lasted longer than low prices. There were days in which British iron rails sold in this country for $50 a ton, and it was predicted that the blessed Walker Tariff would reduce the price. It surely did—the price fell to $40 a ton, and the Free-Traders were glad to see that they had saved the American people twenty per cent. on every ton of rails. There might be American workmen without employment, capital not paying dividends, buildings falling into ruin, but there was a twenty per cent. saving. That was admitted.

Next, the American industry was bankrupted, the British got control of the market, and they raised the price to $75 a ton. This is all fact—hard fact it was for the iron men of that day. Where did the saving for the American consumer appear?

This is no dream of an American standpatter. It is well told by an English pamphleter, and there are hundreds of men who still live to remember the twenty per cent. saving and the fifty per cent. advance on the former price.—Camden Post-Telegram.

Dyspeptic Philosophy

The main trouble with the fellow who knows it all is that he has so much to learn.

Discretion may be the better part of valor, but it is also the greater part of cowardice.

Every dog has his day, but it isn't every dog who knows when he is having it.

It isn't every woman who comes up to our expectations, but they can all fill the bill, according to the reasoning of the married men who have to pay them.

That the course of love doesn't run smooth is demonstrated by the fact that it's a rocky road to Reno.

It is a small consolation to the ball player to realize that the members of the militia are also called out on strikers.—New York Times.

NO ARTISTIC TASTE.

The dapper-looking young traveling man was lording it over the loiterers at the corner grocery. "Ever seen Niagara Falls?" he asked the proprietor. "Nope," that individual replied, tersely. "Ever seen Ausable Chasm?" "Nope." "Ever took in Yellowstone Park?" "Nope." "Ever gaze at the sunrise from Pike's Peak?" The grocer winked wisely at the bystanders. "To tell the truth," he then observed to the traveling man, "I never took much stock in them moving picture shows."

The 23d Day of November,

At 8 o'clock p.m., we will offer for sale to the highest bidder the old Lloyd farm of

256 Acres

This farm can be divided to advantage and will be offered for sale in parcels and as a whole. There is a good two-story dwelling, a tenant house, all necessary outbuildings, barn room for 25,000 pounds of tobacco, a never failing and well-distributed supply of stock water, and fencing in good condition. The place is one and a half miles from churches and schools on a good turnpike that leads to the stable door. Our Colored Citizens.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

A colored organization has been formed in this city to solicit clothing, shoes and money of the public spirited white and colored people for the neglected colored children. Those who have brought such a movement into existence realize the immense good it will be to needy colored children in keeping them in the day and Sunday-school, and off the streets, as well as adding to their comfort. One would be surprised to know the large number of children that drop out of school for the lack of these things and later become street criminals.

The following are the officers:

President—Mrs. Sallie Marshall.

Secretary—Miss Frances Strawder.

Treasurer—Mrs. Bessie Davis.

Directors—Prof. W. H. Humphrey, Misses Nora Ward and Althea Young.

Any one wishing to contribute toward this worthy cause can do so by dropping a card to Mrs. Sallie Marshall, or calling up phone 448.

This cause has the sympathy and sanction of that good and noble woman, Mrs. Bessie, Superintendent of the City Mission.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN MAYSVILLE

SUCH EVIDENCE OUR READERS CANNOT DISPUTE

As we take up THE LEDGER week by week, we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mrs. McClelland does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

ROOSEVELT RAGED

Over Loss of a Book and Used Shocking Words

The Colonel Made an Exhibition of Himself at Portland

Portland (Ore.) cor. Los Angeles Times.

Roosevelt on his campaigning visit to Portland today by his peculiar conduct broke up the set program arranged by the Reception Committee, disrupted a parade, left an audience waiting for a speech that wasn't made and departed from Portland tonight leaving the ears of several prominent citizens tingling with memory of some pointed remarks made in the Colonel's most peculiar style.

Roosevelt reached the city early in the morning, evidently in no good humor, and his mandarin spirit did not improve as he was taken from one conference to another, although the committee tried its best to please him.

The open break came when the formal parade of the day was in progress. The parade had proceeded several miles and was turning back toward the center of the city when Roosevelt viciously inquired, "What's next?"

When Dr. H. V. Coe, Hull Moose Committee-man from Oregon, responded that after the conclusion of the parade the Colonel was scheduled to deliver an open-air address in Plaza Park before going to the Auditorium for the main speech of the day, the Colonel retorted.

"I won't do it. You had no business to make such a program for me," he shouted violently at Dr. Coe. "Take me out in the country."

Occupants of several dozen automobiles following the line were amazed and chagrined to see the car containing the Colonel and Dr. Coe shoot ahead at high speed, turn a corner and disappear from sight.

As a result of Roosevelt's desertion the parade broke up with thousands of persons standing in the line wondering what they had done to incur his brutality.

The paraders were altogether unaware that the Colonel had become angered and the management ordered the program broken up without warning and cut loose from the whole thing. Meanwhile 5,000 persons were gathered at the Plaza Park waiting for the Colonel to deliver a short address. After a dreary hour had passed the crowd dwindled away in disgust.

Roosevelt gave no thought to the crowd that he had disappointed both on the streets and in Plaza Park. He was taken to St. Johns and Kenton in the suburbs of Portland, where he enjoyed a quiet spin, and if he gave any thoughts to the disrupted program there was no apology.

While Roosevelt was speeding about members of the Entertainment Committee who had been left behind started a search for him. Several automobiles were sent scouting about the city trying to find the Colonel, but there was no idea that he had made for the country and no one saw Roosevelt until he concluded his ride and returned to the hotel.

Roosevelt was also scheduled by the committee to make an address at Halladay park, where another small audience awaited him. The Colonel went to the park, according to schedule, but he absolutely refused to leave his automobile and after saying a few words dashed away before the crowd knew he had arrived.

Roosevelt among his other troubles in Portland today completely lost his temper over the loss of a book he has been reading and made things exceedingly unpleasant for a considerable number of persons, including his secretary, the management of the hotel where he was stopping and his hosts. The Colonel had not a brief time aside for rest, and dropping into a chair called for a copy of "The Second Roman Republic," which he had laid down in the room. When it was found to be missing he flew into a maniacal rage.

"Find me that book," he yelled at his secretary. "I want it now."

The Colonel paced the room like a caged beast while he waited for the volume, in the meantime demanding over and over again that the book be produced.

Secretaries, hotel attaches and members of the Reception Committee joined in the search, but the book was gone.

Roosevelt demanded to know who had been admitted to his room he had left and was told that no one had. The name of a woman to whom he had shown the book was mentioned, but Roosevelt cleared her of suspicion of taking it.

After leaving the hotel his amazing anger did not abate, and when his auditorium speech was finished he announced he had decided not to return to the hotel for dinner but go directly to his train.

On the way, however, he stopped at the hotel, the Oregon, and called for the manager. Then before his attendants and the Reception Committee and scores of onlookers he gave the manager a vicious call down for the loss of the book and demanded that the hotel advertise for it. Every one who heard the unprintable language employed was astonished at the Colonel's outbreak over what anyone else would have regarded as a trifling.

There Was a Man In Our Town and he was Wondrous Wise---

You couldn't fool Him, Oh No!

He had drank coffee for years. Coffee didn't hurt him.

But the Bump Came

Mary a man is pretty sure that while coffee may hurt others it don't hurt him-- till the bump comes.

But when headache, frazzled nerves, an irritable heart, indigestion and sleeplessness begin to "get him", he's apt to look around for a reason.

The reason is plain when a change is made from coffee to

POSTUM

This pleasant table drink much resembles real Java coffee in flavour, but is free from "caffeine" (the drug in coffee) or any other harmful substance.

Postum, made from choice Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar cane, has put many former coffee drinkers on the Road to Wellville.

COMES A TIME

When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a friend from Rome, N. Y. "Its lightest punishment being to make me 'foggy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood."

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit the coffee and try Postum."

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well."

"All my ailments, the 'foginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild and have steadily continued until now. I have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health, which I owe to the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, spoke for President Taft at a big political meeting in Indianapolis last night.

Yesterday afternoon in a long distance telephone conversation with Thomas A. Shipps in Indianapolis the Governor consented to begin campaigning for Taft.

"Governor Hadley did not say exactly what word he had received from President Taft," said Mr. Shipps in announcing the decision of the Governor, "but he intimated that he and the President had come to a mutual understanding in regard to the questions which Hadley had asked."
